Kinde Homes' Limited Warranty Commitment relates only to Covered Defects which are defined as defects in material and workmanship that are either part of the structure or are elements of the home as supplied by KINDE HOMES at the date of closing. The existence of a Covered Defect does not constitute a breach of this Limited Warranty; however, KINDE HOMES is obligated to repair or replace the item to conform to the Performance Standards. This is not an insurance policy nor a maintenance agreement, but a definition of what the buyers have a right to expect in terms of warranties. This Limited Warranty is provided to the original purchaser of the home and is nontransferable.

Structural Elements are footing, bearing walls, beams, girders, trusses and rafters, bearing columns, lintels, posts, structural fasteners, subfloors and roof sheathing. A Structural Element will not be deemed defective, and no action will be required of KINDE HOMES, unless there is actual physical damage that diminishes the ability of the Structural Element to perform its load bearing function such that the home is unsafe, unsanitary or unlivable.

If a defect occurs in an item covered by this Limited Warranty, KINDE HOMES will repair or replace it to conform to the Performance Standards. In the case of defects in Structural Elements, KINDE HOMES will repair or replace the Structural Element to restore the load bearing function, as designed, and make such other repairs as are necessary to return the home to a safe, sanitary and livable status. The repair of a defect will include the correction, replacement, or refinishing of only those surfaces, finishes and coverings that were damaged by the defect and that were a part of the home when the title was first transferred by KINDE HOMES. KINDE HOMES will repair or replace surfaces, finishes and coverings that require removal for KINDE HOMES to repair or replace a defect. The extent of the repair or replacement of these surfaces finishes and coverings will be approximately the same condition they were in prior to the defect, but not necessarily to a like new condition. KINDE HOMES cannot guarantee, nor does it warrant exact color matches with the original surrounding area due to normal wear and tear and such factors as fading, aging or unavailability of the original materials.

KINDE HOMES assigns to the buyers' warranties for particular appliances and equipment furnished by the manufacturer to KINDE HOMES. If it is necessary to request a warranty service in such a case, the buyer must make a request directly to the manufacturer. KINDE HOMES provides no warranty on those items except where the malfunction is due to damage during installation or improper installation.

The benefits included in the Limited Warranty are only available when service is requested according to the procedures established by KINDE HOMES and included in the warranty materials. In addition, the buyer's failure to reasonably provide access to the home during normal working hours for making repairs will relieve KINDE HOMES from its obligations under this warranty. KINDE HOMES' aggregate total liability shall not exceed the original contract price of this home.

KINDE HOMES reserves the right to use its judgment in determining the most appropriate method of repairing warranty defects. KINDE HOMES' offer to resolve an issue for which it bears no responsibility under this Limited Warranty does not create the responsibility to provide the resolution in another situation for which it bears no responsibility. Actions taken to cure defects will not extend the periods of coverage specified in this Limited Warranty.

Dispute Settlement

This Dispute Settlement provision sets forth the exclusive remedy of all disputes or controversies under this Limited Warranty.

Disputes concerning the buyer's home that cannot be resolved between KINDE HOMES and the buyer shall be finally determined by arbitration pursuant to the applicable rules of a recognized arbitration body. Judgment upon the award rendered by arbitration, in which KINDE HOMES and the buyer are among the parties, shall be final and binding and may be entered in any court having jurisdiction thereof.

The arbitration will determine the buyer's and KINDE HOMES' rights and obligations under this Limited Warranty. These rights and obligations include, but are not limited to those provided to the buyer or KINDE HOMES by local, state, or federal statutes in connection with this Limited Warranty. The award of the arbitrator(s) will be final, binding and enforceable as to both the buyer, KINDE HOMES, and the Insurer, except as modified or vacated in accordance with the applicable rules and procedures of the arbitration organization, or in their absence, the United States Arbitration Act (9 U.S.C. ss 1 et seq.) A judgment rendered by the arbitrator(s) may be confirmed, entered and enforced in any court having jurisdiction.

Each party shall bear its own expenses for the arbitration, including the remittance of an arbitration-filing fee, which will be paid by the party requesting arbitration. Limited Warranty
Performance Standards

In general terms the following explains what the buyer can expect in the construction of the buyer's home from Kinde Homes and of what the buyer should be aware in its ongoing maintenance and care. The actual coverage's are described in the Limited Warranty.

What the buyer has the right to expect from Kinde Homes:

Soil Drainage

The buyer's home has been placed on good soil engineered to withstand the settlement that might occur. It should not be settled in such a way as to create structural problems during the warranty period.

Concrete Surfaces

The concrete surfaces in the buyer's home shall fulfill the functions for which they were intended without excessive settlement, cracking or secondary damage, such as leaking. Since concrete is likely to crack, standards are defined in a later section.

Structural Integrity

Since homes are constructed by human beings, using a variety of materials, small tolerances are normal. What we consider unacceptable tolerances are defined in the detailed warranty section which follows.

Intrusion of the Elements

The buyer's home should not leak. Exceptions might occur such as when a driving rain forces water into vents, windows or under doors. Under normal circumstances, the buyer's home should protect the buyer from the intrusion of the elements.

What the buyer should know about the buyer's home:

Soil Drainage

The buyer's home and lot were designed with a particular drainage pattern, which will carry water away from the foundation. Water should not be directed to the edge of the foundation, either in the form of lot drainage or the watering of lawn, shrubbery and flowers.

Concrete Surfaces

Concrete Surfaces should be free of salts (for ice), other de-icing chemicals and excessive weight such as a moving van. Yard drainage should be maintained to divert water away from concrete surfaces; if possible, to eliminate the chance it will undermine the surface and erode the bearing soil.

Structural Integrity

Structural alterations to the home must be performed by professionals who understand the load bearing requirements of the change. The reason that local municipalities require permits for building alterations is to make sure the structural integrity of the home is maintained.

Intrusion of the Elements

In many cases, the seal around doors and windows is caulk. This material should be inspected annually. Water from yard and lawn watering devices should not come in contact with the structure.

What the buyer has the right to expect from Kinde Homes:

Mechanical Systems

Those systems installed in the buyer's home to provide power, water, treated air, ventilation and plumbing shall work.

Finished Surfaces

Finished Surfaces shall maintain uniform or characteristic appearance for a reasonable period of time. Cracks or surface deterioration shall be repaired as provided in the Limited Warranty.

Care and Maintenance

Although things wear out, components in the buyer's home should last a reasonable length of time (assuming the buyer gives them appropriate care and maintenance).

What the buyer should know about the buyer's home:

Mechanical Systems

Since the mechanical systems of the buyer's home were designed for normal usage, placing unreasonable demands upon them will present problems. Plugging several electrical devices into one circuit may cause it to overload. Loading materials into a drain may cause it to clog. Undue weight should not be placed upon pipes or showerheads because they can break. Some devices must be cleaned periodically (e.g., furnace filters) so that they can do what they were designed to do. Leaving the doors open, including the garage door, can put undue stress on the heating and air-conditioning systems.

Finished Surfaces

Wood requires cleaning and sealing to prevent problems of water penetration and continual exposure to the elements. Painted or sealed surfaces must be cleaned and refinished according to the requirements of the buyer's geographic area. If this is not done, the surface will deteriorate.

Care and Maintenance

Instructions for care and maintenance are included with many components of the buyer's home, including finished flooring, appliances and air handling equipment. Following these instructions will extend the life of these components.

This section establishes the standards and tolerances by which it will be determined whether the Kinde Homes (KINDE HOMES) Limited Warranty covers the concern a buyer may have. Where specific standards and actions are not shown for a first-year item, the standard shall be the accepted industry practice for workmanship and materials.
